

Client's requirements

Stateside Skates were expanding into their newly purchased warehouse and needed the unit to be completely fitted out with a full electrical installation and data system. They also required the new premises to be protected from fire and fully secure. All of the works needed to be carried out within a tight budget and even tighter timescale!

The fit-out project was split into two stages; firstly the main warehouse, then secondly their new Head Office that would be built within the unit itself. As Stateside Skates were moving into bigger premises it was imperative to consider ways of reducing energy consumption.

Why they chose the Matters Group

Stateside Skates chose the Matters Group for this project as they had built a strong reputation for reliability and trust whilst maintaining their security systems over several years.

Benefits to the Client

Working with one project manager at Matters to manage the design and installation of all of their electrical, data, security & fire protection systems meant saving time and money with enhanced levels of communication and efficiency.

Matters Group were involved from the very beginning of the project which meant they were able to design the complete electrical & security installation and advise the client on ways that they could reduce their carbon footprint. As the project progressed there were changes to the main design which meant that Matters needed to ensure a flexible and agile approach to alter the designs but delivered the project schedule on time.

Matters Group Solution

Matters Group designed and installed the complete electrical & security package, utilising the latest technology including LED lighting combined with PIR sensors so that energy consumption was kept to an absolute minimum but still making sure that the ethos of the clients' "vibrant & dynamic" approach was adhered to.

"We used Matters for all the electrical, security and data requirements of our new office build and from start to finish they were thorough, professional and flexible. They advised us on a huge variety of requirements during the project allowing us to deliver the offices on time and on budget and we are absolutely delighted with the end product!. Their knowledge is fully up to date with current regulations and they cooperated brilliantly with all the other contractors working on the project. We would definitely recommend Matters and would 100% use them again."
